Mammoth Machine chokes KRS Road traffic

16-wheel truck carries mining contraption to be assembled at BEML Mysuru

By Vinay Karekura

Mysuru, July 24- The ever-busy KRS Road in city was turned into bumper-to-bumper traffic this morning at 10.30 am as a 16-wheel truck was transporting a huge mining machinery from Bengaluru to Bharat Earth Movers Limited (BEML) factory at Belawadi here.

The driver took the wrong route and ended up on the KRS Road, clogging traffic for almost two hours.

Traffic Police and some factory security personnel had a harrowing time in diverting the traffic and ensure a smooth vehicle flow as the truck had occupied most of the road. While a lone security guard was guiding the driver on his route to the factory, other factory security personnel and the Police manned the piling up traffic.

To make matters worse, elections were being held for the Vikrant Tyres Workers Union this morning and workers and vehicles spilled on the road. The factory is located on the same road and there was a heavy rush as it was peak hours. Regular office-goers and students take the road during that hour.

On its route, the huge machine, mounted on the 16-wheeler, cut many tree branches, adding to the mess. Usually, such trucks are permitted on city roads only in the night when there is no traffic. But this truck ended up on the road bang opposite GSSSIETW, clogging the entire stretch. Only one person from BEML was deputed to guide the truck from Bengaluru to Mysuru.

BJP awaits High Command directions to stake claim

I congratulate the future Chief Minister Yeddyurappa, says Sumalatha Ambarish

Bengaluru, July 24 (UNI)- Following H.D. Kumaraswamy-led Congress-JD(S) Coalition Government's failure to prove confidence in the Assembly yesterday, BJP is all set to claim power.

A day after the collapse of the Coalition Government, the residence of the Opposition BJP leader in the Assembly B.S. Yeddyurappa at Dollar's Colony turned out to be a rosy one with large number of party leaders visiting and congratulating their leader who is all set to become the Chief Minister for a record fourth time.

Yeddyurappa said that he was awaiting advice from Central leadership to make the next move. Speaking to reporters before meeting senior RSS leaders at 'Keshava Krupa,' the RSS Headquarters in Bengaluru this morning, Yeddyurappa said he had come to discuss issues with the RSS leaders and his next move on meeting the Governor or staking claim to form the BJP Government in the State will depend on instructions by the BJP Central leaders.

Yeddyurappa indicated that the BJP Legislature Party meeting will be held only after instructions received from the party Central leadership.

Sources in the BJP said that the Central leadership had asked Yeddyurappa not to come to New Delhi immediately until there was a final decision on formation of the next Government in Karnataka.

Favouring female fraternity

The males have outnumbered females in the land's total headcount and one of the reasons for that to happen is said to be the unlawful practice of female foeticide which the authorities are finding it tricky to detect and unable to stop completely. Even catchy slogans created some years ago and flashed across the country for many years through large-sized hoardings and media publicity calling upon couples to have only two kids, male child to bring glory (keerthi) to the family and female for upholding the land's religious customs (aarathi) didn't seem to change the outlook on female child in the camps indulging in such inhuman practice.

Further, ironically enough, we read nowadays about sons as a class failing in their duty to care for their aged parents while daughters have emerged as not only bread-winners of their respective families but also care-takers of their parents in the evening of their life. The ethos towards gender-difference seems to be dictated by pragmatism as the males provide the workforce for agriculture and the females in total charge of keeping the hearth burning. Old-timers didn't exactly relish when unisex attires emerged some years ago virtually eliminating the time-honoured way of distinguishing the two genders at first sight.

Two age-old customs of some sections in the land's population are lingering to this day. One is naming the newborn child with interchangeable terms such as Vasantha, Prasanna, Kantha and Keerthi. The other is to deliberately give an exclusively male name to the female child in the belief that the female child is not snatched away by fate, a bizarre-sounding custom. The reverse practice of naming a male child with female name has also been in vogue, as in the case of renowned scientist late Prof. Y. Nayudamma.

Dress*, while seen in public domain being an unmistakable identification of the gender of the wearer first and name (barring examples cited in the previous paragraph) by which a person is addressed second are features that have endured in the cases of defence personnel and Police force for a long time, given the females in the two sectors having to don uniform meant only for males. However, Karnataka Government has just relaxed the dress code for the females in the Police force. Also, according to a four-column broad headline in a section of the Press, women in Central Reserve Police Force, numbering about 8,000, will soon get specially designed body gear to ensure protection of soft parts of their anatomy and also their vital organs. More cases of diminishing male image in public domain has come from abroad. There will be no manholes anymore in one of the regions of the United States of America, yielding place to maintenance holes. The term man-made is replaced by human-made. The term human-power displaces the term man-power. Lastly, the terms 'he', 'she', 'her' and 'him' will be replaced by 'they', 'them'.

Attire and terms with prefix 'man' have played their role in favouring the female. But, the aggressive stance taken by some males, particularly episodes of sexual assaults, dowry menace and so on may not be of much consequence of the aforementioned changes.

DUTY NOT TO RESIGN: A person elected to any House has a duty not to throw away his seat at the drop of a hat. He must serve the Constituency for five years, representing it in the Legislature, though he is free to relinquish it. He may not give reason, but his resignation must be genuine and at his free will so that others cannot play games or plan manipulations with the process of governance, unnecessarily nullifying the election and burdening the machinery to conduct another election. No political party or any other agency can induce, force or blackmail any Legislator to resign to help serve the political interests of any party. People have a legitimate expectation from Legislators and Governments. — M. Sridhar Acharyulu in Deccan Herald

Condom Couture: Turning rubbers into dresses

Brasilia: Adriana Bertini, a 35-year-old Brazilian artist who's turning condoms into dresses is turning heads in the fashion world.

Years before, Adriana worked as a volunteer for Gay Asian Pacific Alliance (GAPA) to raise awareness about AIDS and the people who suffer from it. In 1997, she launched her project called "Dress Up Against AIDS: Condom Couture." From afar, this cream-colored dress doesn't even look like it's made from condoms.

Royals take mourning clothes whenever they travel

London: Reason 57847485 why the royals are in no way like us at all - their packing and travel arrangements. Even though he does this very thing, Prince William isn't supposed to travel on the same plane as George and Charlotte because two royal heirs should never fly on the same flight together.

Royals also all have to take a black mourning outfit in their luggage, in case a family member dies. So it's actually a bit of a morbid affair in the Royal family.

According to Marie Claire, the Queen and her heir travel with a pack of their own blood, looked after by a navy doctor who is always close by. It makes perfect sense because they will be able to receive blood transfusions even if they are in an area where there many not be a reliable supply.

Boot Camp on Theoretical and Experimental Phonology at CIIL

Mysuru, July 24- A six-day Boot Camp on Theoretical and Experimental Phonology is being organised by the Educational Technology Unit (ETU) of Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL), Mysuru, to train the participants on contemporary theories and practices in the area of phonology with their application on field and laboratory data. Participants will be exposed with the most relevant frameworks prevalent in the area of (theoretical and experimental) phonology, and also their comparative preference over each other given choice research focus.

Speaking on the occasion, Prof. G. Uma Maheshwara Rao said that there is need of more research in the area of linguistics, particularly phonology. While focusing on the Historical Phonology, he said that the discipline of phonology may be regarded as old as the evolution of human race itself.

Prof. Rajnath Bhat, Professor of Linguistics, Banaras Hindu University, who was the guest of honour and an expert in Boot Camp, called upon the scholars and researchers of the linguistics to come forward to take-up some serious investigations in the area of phonology from the perspective Traditional Indian Schools of Knowledge.

Prof. D.G. Rao. Director, CIIL, in his presidential remarks said that young scholars should make use of this rare opportunity by interacting with the experts in the field of Linguistics, especially phonology and sound concern.

Prof. P. Perumal Swamy, Professor-cum-Deputy, Director of CIIL and Head of ETU welcomed. Dr. Aleendra Brahma, LJRO, CIIL, proposed a vote of thanks.

Dr. Pankaj Dwivedi, Lecturer cum Junior Research Officer (LJRO), CIIL & Officer in-charge of ETU, CIIL and the coordinator of the workshop spoke about the modus operandi and conceptual working of the boot camp.

Ten experts in the area of Linguistics and Phonology from various Universities, IITs and other institutions will train the participants in the areas relevant to the theme of the boot camp.

Forty teachers and research scholars from various Universities, IITs, NITs and other institutes of the country are participating in this workshop which began on July 22.

Co-ordination needed between Ministries of Roadways, Railways, Civil Aviation and Environment

Sir,

This refers to the recent news item that the cost of Rail Line between Mysuru-Belagola and then on to Kushalnagar has entered the "pink book". This would mean that it is practically ready for execution. Considering that Railways are building a huge office in Madikeri, it is clear that their immediate aim is to build a Railway Line from Kushalnagar to Madikeri and then ultimately on to B.C. Road down the Ghat to connect the line to Mangaluru. Do the Railways have the approval of the Ministry of Environment? I doubt it.

Last year, because of the strong lobby of the people of Malabar region, Kerala Government pressurised the Railways to build a Rail Line through thick forest area and Western Ghats from Thalassery to Kushalnagar. At that time there was a very strong protest from the people of Kodagu and the matter was postponed for the time being. As we all know, there are already six Railway Lines across the Western Ghats and there is no need for yet another Rail Line.

Regarding Roads, there are over two dozen National and State Highways plus umpteen other Roads across this Ghat. Add to this the power transmission lines and ALL of these results in deforestation, which in turn would affect the average rainfall. Most importunately it does not just rain occasionally but pours and this results in landslides and large scale erosion! This would be a disaster not only to Kodagu but to the entire Southern India environmentally.

Considering that there is huge population not only on both the sides of the Ghat but also on the Ghat itself, a decent mode of transportation across the Ghat is important. Here it is essential for the authorities to think like how the Autobahns of Germany around the Black Forest were built (see map). The inner roads are all single lane roads while the Autobahns are around it! Since most of the main Roads in Western Ghats are already two lanes, let us not make them into four.

Meanwhile, the main National Highway between Cochin and Mumbai which is West of the Ghat, could be made into a super Highway with six or even eight lanes. Similarly if necessary another super Highway just East of the Ghat, for example, from Gundlupet-Hunsur-Shivamogga-Belagavi and on to Pune can be built.

There are various methods to control the accidents in such narrow Ghat roads. One is to restrict speed limits. To impose this speed limit, one could have a post just outside say Kushalnagar where one's car number and time of entry is noted and transmitted to another post before entering Madikeri. If a vehicle reaches earlier than the stipulated time, impose a penalty for excessive speed driving.

At present there are several single lane Roads across the Ghat. My earnest request to the authorities is to keep it that way. This reminds me of several roads in Upper Assam, particularly one between the two oil towns, Digboi and Duliajan. These two towns are separated by 40 kms with 25 kms of thick elephant infested forest in between. When the Road was built in 1950s, it was a one lane road with a small wider portion every 200 metres or so for vehicles to cross over or a smaller vehicle to overtake a heavier oilfield 16-wheel truck. I visited the place in 2013 and was pleased to see that the forest portion of the road is still single lane !

We could apply the same principle to roads in Western Ghats also. Keep National Highways as two lanes and State Highways and other roads as a single lane with wider space at regular intervals for vehicles to cross or faster vehicles to overtake. Thus we will save the forests.

We could improve the transportation by bringing in the Aviation Ministry. Why not build a large helipad at Madikeri and introduce daily helicopter service to Bengaluru-Mysuru and Mangaluru through UDAN scheme? For achieving the optimum results, co-operation of all the above mentioned Ministries is essential.

Innovative idea for managing e-Waste

By Vasanthkumar Mysoremath

After attending the stakeholders interaction on "e-Waste Management in Mysuru" organised by the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) in association with SDM-IMD recently and listening to the talks and presentations of experts, I felt that India is lagging behind in tackling this toxic e-Waste menace and has a long way to go. It is predicted that by 2020 computer e-Waste will increase by 500 percent and discarded mobiles will be 18 times and TV sets by 2 times in India which is No.5 in generating e-Waste worldwide.

Recovery of metals, minerals and rare earth elements from various components in the electronic gadgets is a costly affair and India does not possess its own indigenous technology or methodology to tackle this problem.

It was revealed that talks are on with some existing e-Waste Handlers and that a PPP/MoU may materialise in due course. But what was left unanswered was, what happens to residues after recovering precious metals, minerals etc; the question of how such waste is to be managed was left open and no action plan was in sight for managing mercury contents in tubelights, LED TV screens, bulbs etc., discarded through household waste or that thrown in street corners.

Here are innovative e(easy)-solutions to tackle this major e-Waste problem — that are simple, doable, replicable, economical, sustainable and have the potential for Start-Ups and job creation. I presented this in a nutshell at the CII-SDM-IMD workshop and it was well-received.

e-Hollow Blocks

1. Use e-Waste to create green building material.

2. Collect e-waste like mother boards, diods, LED bulbs, tubelights, etc., that contain toxic elements.

3. Pound them into bits and manageable pieces.

4. Take a ready-made Hollow Block.

5. Pour these e-Waste bits and pieces and arrest them for ever in the hollow place, close it with whatever construction material available, including pieces of discarded asbestos sheets (another hazardous material).

6. Use these e-Waste filled Hollow Blocks for constructing walls, compounds, etc.

e- Solid Bricks

1. Collect e-waste discarded by e-Waste Recovery Plants or those with municipalities.

2. Pound them into bits and manageable pieces.

3. Take six measures of river sand or M-sand and two measures of cement.

4. Mix well and then with required quantity of water prepare the mix like we prepare for mud bricks.

5. Pour one measure of e-Waste and mix well — this is 'e-brick mix.'

6. Pour the e-brick mix into brick making box, press with the handle till excess water comes out — allow to dry say for about 4 hours.

7. Then slowly open the box and slide out e-brick on to some thinly spread sand.

8. Solar dry for a few days with periodical sprinkling of water so that they get set and ready as green building material.

9. Use the "e-Brick" for construction of partition walls or compound walls.

Advantages of e-Blocks and e-Bricks

1. Deadly toxic e-Waste that contaminates ground water can be arrested permanently.

2. Saves planet earth from environmental pollution.

3. e-Waste management is made easy for authorities handling waste.

4. Construction industry can adopt these as green initiatives and get sops for their contribution.

5. Will stop health problems of women and children engaged in unscientific handling of e-Waste.

6. Pourakarmikas or their families can be encouraged to start such pounding centres and supply the bits and pieces of e-Waste to Hollow Block/Brick Manufacturers with whom an MoU may be signed through MCC or other stakeholders/ industries. Rag-pickers can be engaged to enable them to earn some regular earnings by picking and delivering the e-Waste from garbage dumps in urban areas.

The above innovative ideas will result in win-win situation in managing e-Waste. With proper planning and implementation of these innovative ideas, it is possible to completely arrest every bit of e-Waste and avoid contamination of ground water.

Wheel Lock: Vehicle owners express anger over Traffic Police move

Mysuru, July 24 (MK&KS)- Vehicle owners, who had parked their two-wheelers in the 'No Parking' zone have expressed their anger on Traffic Police for locking the wheels of the two-wheelers and also staged a protest yesterday evening.

Traffic ASI Siddegowda and staff, attached to K.R. Traffic Police, who were on their regular beat on Gurukar Devanna Street in Agrahara saw three bikes parked in 'No Parking' zone and locked the wheels of the bikes.

Meanwhile, members of the public, who saw the Cops locking the wheels of the bikes, questioned them as to why they had only locked the wheels of the bikes and not the wheels of four goods vehicles which were also parked in 'No Parking' zone at the same spot. Following this, the Traffic Cops locked the wheels of the four goods vehicles also and imposed a fine of Rs. 1,000 each on all the vehicles.

Irked over the imposition of huge fines, the vehicle owners requested the Police not to impose hefty fines as they were poor and dragged the locked vehicles to the middle of the road and staged a protest resulting in disruption of traffic for some time.

ASI Siddegowda then called Inspector R. Jagadish over the phone and informed the matter. The Inspector, who rushed to the spot, told the vehicle owners that the fine amount was imposed by the Government and the Police were just following the order besides asking the vehicle owners to co-operate.

Later, the Police collected the fines and removed the wheel locks.

Employment agencies collecting money for jobs in Mysore Airport

Airport Authority of India (AAI) asks public to be beware of fake job offers online

Mysuru, July 24 (RK&KS)- It has lately come to light that a few employment agencies have been collecting money from youths promising them jobs at Mysore Airport in Mandakalli.

Following this, the Airport Authority of India (AAI) has asked the public to be alert and vigilant on such job offers.

The AAI, in a press release, has stated that fraudulent recruitment advertisements and job offers are being made by some unscrupulous elements forging AAI's name/logo and trying to deceive people by making false promises of offering them a job in AAI. Certain unidentified websites have also been noticed with vacancies of AAI's position on their websites. The release further states that no websites or agencies have been authorised by AAI, either to show vacancy positions in their site or to accept any application for recruitment for AAI's vacancies.

AAI has informed the public that all the vacancies and recruitment are notified on AAI's official website only and sometimes in Employment News/ Rojgar Samachar and other leading Indian newspapers. Link to apply for vacancies is available only on AAI's official website www.aai.aero/en/careers/recruitment and not on any other website. The application fee is payable at the time of online registration and no other payments are sought at any other stage of recruitment.

By this notice, it is brought to the knowledge of all concerned to exercise caution and not to be misled by false advertisements. AAI is not responsible, in any way, for any loss/ or damage caused by the action of such unscrupulous elements, the release added.

Meanwhile, Mysore Airport Director R. Manjunath, speaking to Star of Mysore, said that agencies that have collected the bio-data and have got the money transferred online are sending candidates to Mysore Airport and added that every day about 10 to 15 candidates come to the Airport asking for jobs. He has further stated that it has come to light that private employment agencies have also collected Rs.2,000, Rs.5,000 and Rs.10,000 from youths promising them jobs at Mysore Airport.

Stating that there is parking facility for those travelling abroad just like in Bengaluru, Mangaluru, Chennai and Hyderabad Airports, he said that none of those travelling abroad have left their vehicles and transferred the documents for their vehicles to be sold but a few persons have got the money transferred through online and have asked the customers to take delivery of the vehicles at the Airport.

The Airport Director, advising the youths not to fall prey with fake job offers and lose their money, has clarified that there are no vacancies at Mysore Airport and recruitment is taken up only by AAI.

Two held for burgling shops

Water pumps, fans, paint cans, autorickshaw seized

Mysuru, July 24 (KS)- On a tip off, the City Crime Branch (CCB) Police on July 22 have arrested two burglars who were trying to sell the stolen items at a scrap yard (Gujari) on T. Narasipur Road in Alanahalli Police limits and have recovered the stolen materials besides seizing an autorickshaw used for the crime.

The accused are 21-year-old Ziaulla of Shanthinagar and 23-year-old Syed Azaruddin of Ghousianagar in city.

During interrogation, the accused are said to have confessed of burgling shops at various places in the district by forcibly opening the rolling shutters.

The Police have recovered six water pumps, three ceiling fans and four paint cans which they had brought in an autorickshaw to sell them besides seizing the autorickshaw used for the crime.

DCPs M. Muthuraj and B.T. Kavitha and CCB ACP B.R. Lingappa supervised CCB Inspector C. Kiran Kumar, ASI Chandregowda and staff Asgar Khan, Lakshmikanth, Yakub Shariff, Ramaswamy, Chikkanna, M.R. Ganesh, Shivaraju, Rajendra, Chandrashekar, Niranjan, Chamundamma, Gautham and Shivakumar in the nabbing and seizing operation, according to a press release from the Public Relations Officer (PRO), City Police Commissioner's Office, Mysuru.

Mobile phone thieves arrested

Nine mobile phones, scooter worth about Rs.1.55 lakh recovered

Mysuru, July 24 (SPN&KS)- Saraswathipuram Police on July 22 have arrested two persons on charges of stealing mobile phones and have recovered nine mobile and a scooter from them.

The accused are 19-year-old Mani alias Manikanta of Bommanahalli in Bengaluru and 19-year-old Puneeth of Bandipalya in Mysuru.

Saraswathipuram Police, who were on their regular beat on Monday, saw three persons riding triples on a Honda Dio scooter and stopped them during which one of them fled from the spot. The Police, who nabbed the other two, inspected the scooter and found nine mobile phones kept in the scooter.

During interrogation, the accused are said to have confessed of lifting the scooter and also the mobile phones from women in crowded places following which the Police recovered nine mobile phones and the scooter, all worth about Rs.1.55 lakh from them.

Saraswathipuram Inspector D.P. Dhanaraj, SI Anil Kumar and staff Bhavya, Suresh Babu, Basavaraje Urs, Mahadev, Manjunatha Harish and R.N. Nagesh took part in the nabbing and recovery operation.

Hunt for treasure in a manhole!

Cases filed against three persons

Mysuru, July 24- The MCC was perturbed by three unknown persons trying to search for wealth by opening manholes. Realising the seriousness of the situation, it registered a Police complaint against them on Sunday. The incident was brought to the notice of MCC Executive Engineer Mahesh around 3.15 pm and he rushed to the spot on Ramanuja Road, 15th Cross but found nothing to substantiate that anybody had entered the manhole.

Mahesh said that he was surprised to hear on questioning a few locals and passers-by that a few unknown persons had indeed opened the lid of the manhole and got into one of them.

"When the public questioned them, they said that they were looking for money and gold," said Mahesh citing the local people.

MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag said that there were three persons, as per eyewitness accounts, who had stated that they had seen a few local people entering the manhole in search of gold, silver and cash. Meanwhile, Mahesh said this was for the first time that they had come across anything like this (people getting into a manhole in search of treasure).

However, the identity of the three persons was not traceable, as they had left the spot covering the lid by the time the MCC staff could reach the spot.

Looking at the complaint book, he found that there was no UGD blockage in that area nor had any complaint been registered in the last 15 days. Hence, the officials felt that the three did not belong either to the MCC or were they contract workers engaged in UGD works and hence they must be unauthorised persons, said Mahesh.

MCC was well-equipped with adequate machinery to clean the UGD mechanically and its personnel need not physically enter any manhole to clean the clogged drainage, said Shilpa Nag. Since three unidentified persons had illegally opened a manhole, a complaint had been lodged against them with the KR Police Station, said Nag.

Why does my dog shed hair?

Shedding a small amount is normal for every mammal including you. But any more means that the dog is not well and you need to have a blood and urine test. Dogs with untreated allergies often leave more hair and dander on furniture. Daily brushing and a good diet and proper grooming will significantly reduce your pet's shedding and help prevent flaking skin and hair loss related to improper nutrition. Never bathe a dog more than once a month (less often for some breeds) or it will become dry and shed/dander more.

My dog rubs herself against my clothes every day. Is there any way to get dog hair off my clothes? I don't want to wash them every day.

Here are some suggestions for your clothes, carpets, sofas, bed linen:

1. Soak the palm of your hand. Wipe the pet hair off in a downward motion. The hair will ball up and stick to your damp hand. This works because the hair becomes wet, therefore heavier. This results in it being unable to stick to your pants (or whatever surface you're dealing with) in response to static electricity.

2. Slightly dampen a clean, regular kitchen sponge. Use a sponge mop if you're removing pet hair from a low-pile carpet, in which case the floor should be thoroughly vacuumed first. Rub the fabric, upholstery, or carpet, with the sponge. The fur should roll up into clumps that you can pick off by hand.

3. Rub Velcro curlers on the surface to catch the hair. If the curler has a metal inner form, it can be bent to reach corners.

4. Use sellotape to peel off some fur. Just wrap some around your hand with the sticky, adhesive part sticking out, and tap it on the fur-covered areas. Use masking tape. It's relatively cheap and you can tear off a piece, tape the ends together, and then rotate the tape while removing pet hair from clothing or other surfaces.

5. Put on a latex glove. Rub the surface with it on. The pet hair should stick to your glove. This also works with rubber gloves, or cloth gardening gloves with a rubber coating on the palm. A rubber bristle push broom can work in the same way on floors. Dampen the glove, or rubber section of the glove, for increased effectiveness. You can use dish-washing gloves. If you lightly dampen them and rub them over your clothes, the static they create and the texture of the palms will cause the stray hairs to cling to the gloves. Once they become covered with hair, give them a rinse and start again. Using the gloves for hair collection also works great on upholstered furniture.

Inflate a balloon. Rub it across the surface that has pet hair on it. The static on the balloon's surface will attract the hair, which you can collect and then re-use the balloon to get more hair.

6. Use a rubber broom. This is effective for especially stubborn pet hair that sticks to a surface. The bristles work with static electricity and the hair jumps onto the brush.

7. Use rubber soles. Use a pair of shoes with a rubber sole, like a trainer for example. Wearing the shoe(s) (the easiest option), drag your foot along the rug or carpet and watch all the hair bunch up! Simply lift up the hair.

8. Buy a lint brush. This works on most types of dog and cat hair. Keep it by the door for quick touch-ups before going out. To clean quickly, rub the lint brush in the "wrong" direction with a damp wash-cloth.

9. Keep several clothes brushes handy for a quick clean up before leaving home.

If you have woollen clothes that are covered with hair, use a clothes steamer, or even hang them in a steamy bathroom, before using the clothes brush. The dampness will help the fibres release the pet hair, making it easier to brush away.

10. A sticky clothes roller is often best for removing pet hair. If you don't have one (or can't find it), use some sturdy packing tape wrapped around your hand with the sticky side out.

11. Vacuum your home and furniture often. Much of the pet hair on your clothes comes from the furniture.

Will a washing machine help remove dog hair off clothes?

Wash pet bedding often. After laundering, run an extra rinse cycle to be sure that your washer is free from pet hair. If you dry the pet bedding in a dryer, clean the lint filter in mid-cycle so that it can collect additional hair as the bedding finishes drying. If you don't clean a clogged filter, pet hair can redeposit on clothes.

For washable clothes, or bedding that is covered with pet hair, run the items through the dryer on air /no heat first before washing them. The tumbling action of the dryer will loosen much of the hair and it will be sucked into the dryer lint trap. Be sure to clean out the lint trap immediately after taking this step, to prevent odours and increase air flow.

Add 1/2 cup white distilled vinegar to the rinse cycle when washing loads with lots of lint or hair. The vinegar will help the fabric fibres relax and "release" the hair.

When washing clothes do not overcrowd the washer. The clothes need room to move freely in the water, so that the hair can be loosened and flushed away down the drain. Tossing the clothes in the dryer — even for a short time — will help remove hair more than air drying clothes. Keep all dryer vents clean and clear of lint so that there is enough strong air flow to pull the hair away from the fabrics.

Do cows cry or grieve?

Cows do grieve for loved ones, and mother cows cry for days after being separated from their babies.

Does milking a cow hurt the cow?

Most cow owners do not wash their hands, do not have soft hands, or do not milk gently. Nor do they put any cream or lotion on the udders afterwards. More than 50% of cows' udders become sore. They suffer from mastitis, an infection of the udders that causes swelling and makes milking very painful.

Are spiders and ants friends or enemies?

There are no friends and enemies in nature. There is predator and prey. Ants are sometimes predators of spiders and sometimes prey of other spider species. In a strange case, jumping spiders are eaten by the large aggressive spitting spiders. The spitting spider can immobilise its prey by spitting on it from a distance. In the Philippines, it lives on the same large waxy leaves as the jumping spider. It normally spins its web right over the nest of the jumping spider, to make hunting just a little bit easier. However, the spitting spider does not come near a jumping spider when the latter positions its own nest near that of weaver ants. This is because the spitting spider is repelled by the airborne smell that these ants release. However, it's not yet plain sailing for the jumping spider, as it is also a favourite snack of its saviour, the weaver ant. Therefore, jumping spiders build dense, ant-proof nests of an unusually tough and dense weave that are difficult for the ants to tear open. The nest's hinged flaps of silk at each end function as swinging doors. The spider quickly raises these when it enters or leaves the nest, before any ants can follow. See how clever each species is!

Are shrimps safe to eat?

Many people think that an animal is safe to consume because it doesn't kill them immediately, or gives them an infection in their stomach that lasts for a few days. For instance, eating the meat of a cow/buffalo, that has foot in mouth disease, does give some humans an acne/chickenpox type condition and fever, but it is so mild that no one relates the two. Likewise, shrimp carry massive amounts of antibiotics (because that is what they have been bred with), heavy metals and PCBs, which are the worst cancer giving chemicals that I can think of. These have long-term effects — meaning your body can react even a year later. Now, scientists have found that freshwater shrimps are sometimes affected by a parasite, Pleistophoramulleri, which makes the shrimp cannibalistic and far more voraciously hungry. Do you want that kind of parasite in you? There is evidence that parasites can affect human behaviour. A study, led by Dr. Glenn McConkey, of the University of Leeds Faculty of Biological Sciences, has shown that the parasite Toxoplasma gondii directly affects the chemistry of the human brain. I always say — first you eat meat, then it eats you.

What can I do to save a species like the tiger?

Collect as much money as you can and give it to genuine groups, who don't waste it on advertising and giving T-shirts with slogans, but, who buy jeeps and guns for forest rangers, and pay for Lawyers and work with Police in and around reserves, to save not just tigers but their prey, deer, monkeys etc. Plant as many trees as you can. One tree, that saves a species locally, goes a long way towards saving key species elsewhere on the planet.

Don't eat meat. Most tigers are killed by goatherds and buffalo owners who want the forest for their animal grazing. Less cattle and goats feeding in the forests, so that their owners can sell them for your meat, means more tigers immediately. Fight, with your e-mail, voice and whatever you have, against any attempt by the Government to divert forests for any reason. Do not go to resorts that are anywhere near tiger territory. These are usually illegal, and many of them take tourists into the forests illegally.

Curtain falls on 'Nataka' as Kumaraswamy loses Trust Vote

Bengaluru, July 24 (UNI& Agencies)- The inevitable finally happened last evening, with the H.D. Kumaraswamy Government falling after days of political manoeuvring and attempts to win over the rebel Legislators failed to bear fruit. The JD(S)-Congress Coalition Government fell 12 days after Kumaraswamy sought to move the confidence motion in the State Assembly.

The Trust Vote was defeated last evening, the fourth day when the House debated on the confidence motion, bringing an end to the high-voltage intense power struggle. The motion was defeated with 99 members voting for the motion and 105 against it.

End of grand 'Nataka'

It was indeed a grand 'Nataka'. Ever since the 15 MLAs resigned from the ruling camp, the fall of the Government was imminent. The defection gave BJP a massive upper hand in an intricate game, whereas Congress and JD(S) were left to scamper for shelter and protection from a looming threat. A floor test battle ensued where HDK-led Coalition failed to prove majority.

Exactly 14 months ago on May 23, 2018, Kumaraswamy had assumed office with great fanfare. The Congress, after losing the elections badly (down from 122 to 80 in a 224-member Assembly) supported the JD(S), which had also come down from 40 to 37 to deny the BJP (up from 44 to 104 seats) an opportunity to lead the Government.

Interestingly, Kumaraswamy was sworn-in as CM on May 23 in 2018 and he lost power on July 23, 2019. His son, Nikhil Kumaraswamy in support of whom the entire coalition machinery rallied around, lost the 2019 Lok Sabha elections on May 23 against Independent candidate Sumalatha Ambarish.

Nikhil's loss was a blow to Kumaraswamy who failed to see a wave against his Coalition set-up. He, in turn, blamed the media for extensive coverage of Sumalatha and Narendra Modi.

Even last evening, after losing the Trust Vote, Kumaraswamy 'thanked' the media for supporting him during his 14-month rule. The dripping sarcasm in his voice was, however, there for everyone to see.

Full of contradictions

Though Kumaraswamy may have blamed the BJP for whatever has happened since July 1 when two Congress MLAs first revolted, but the fact remains that right after assuming office he knew that his Government was full of internal contradictions and his term would be up in about a year's time.

Over a fortnight, Kumaraswamy had been trying to cling to power, using all kinds of tricks to delay the confidence vote, notwithstanding the fact that it was he who had demanded it. Around 20 MLAs including those from Congress, JD(S), Independents and BSP who had been supporting the Coalition Government had deserted — 16 resigned and four abstaining on one pretext or another.

Numbers stacked up

It was clear that for the past fortnight he didn't have the numbers. His Government had been reduced to a minority, but till such time it was proved on the floor of the House, he could stay put on the CM's chair. It's a different matter that the drama had made a mockery of the Parliamentary process, all in the name of the Speaker, who is the supreme authority when it comes to the matters of Assembly.

Never had the mandate

Kumaraswamy never had the mandate to rule Karnataka. He was the leader of a party which was number three in the State Assembly. Besides, JD(S) number had also gone down in the Lok Sabha elections.

The Congress had lost almost half of its seats, from a position where it ruled the State with an absolute majority. In this year's Parliamentary elections, the BJP swept the polls conclusively defeating the JD(S)-Congress alliance, so much so that even former Prime Minister and party patriarch H.D. Deve Gowda and his grandson Nikhil Kumaraswamy lost the elections.

The Parliamentary poll results were a further affirmation that Congress-JD(S) combine didn't have the mandate to rule the State. Under the circumstances, it was understandable that so many of Coalition MLAs raised a banner of revolt.

Kumaraswamy's five-star luck

Repeatedly pilloried over his stay in a five-star hotel, Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy on the other hand claimed yesterday that it had brought him luck. Kumaraswamy said he was sitting in the same room in May 2018 and tracking the results of Assembly elections when he received a call that changed his political trajectory.

"Seeing the outcome (at first), I decided to quit politics. Just then, I got a call from AICC General Secretary Ghulam Nabi Azad. He said the Congress had decided to support the JD(S) and wanted me to become the Chief Minister," he said. "This room turned out to be lucky for me, hence I retained it."

BJP poised to bounce back to power after six years

Bengaluru, July 24 (UNI)- The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), which made its first advent in Karnataka to form its own Government in 2008, is poised to return to power in the next few days. This comes in the wake of JD(S)-Congress coalition losing the Floor Test.

The BJP, which made its advent in the South and the East, had considered Karnataka as the gateway for its entry into the elusive South India, will come back to power after a gap of six years in Karnataka.

The BJP, which had emerged as the single largest party in the 2008 Assembly elections by bagging 110 seats, three short of majority had formed the Government on its own by securing the support of the five independents, led by senior leader B.S. Yeddyurappa.

However, Yeddyurappa had to step down following corruption charges in the alleged illegal denotification of revenue land, in 2010, in which the beleaguered Yeddyurappa had also served a judicial custody of over 23 days. Senior BJP leader D.V. Sadananda Gowda, who had taken the reigns from Yeddyurappa, also had to resign following dissident activities in the party, and elected another senior leader in the party Jagadish Shettar as the new CM.

Thereafter, the BJP suffered defeat in the 2013 Assembly elections, when the party was divided by Yeddyurappa and formed his own new party Karnataka Janata Party (KJP).

However, the resurgent Saffron party, with Yeddyurappa back in the fold under the influence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, emerged to become the single largest party in the 2018 Assembly elections. But it fell short by a whisker winning 104 seats, short of the 113 simple majority mark, and sat in the Opposition.

Again the BJP oozed in confidence under Narendra Modi wave winning 25 out of 28 seats in the Lok Sabha elections and an independent in Mandya supported by it also won. It was such a morale-booster for the Saffron party even as the Coalition Government in Karnataka suffered under differences among the Coalition party partners.

The clock has turned a full circle now after the teetering coalition Government fell last evening and again Yeddyurappa is likely to assume the mantle.

BJP's stoic silence and patience finally pay off

Bengaluru, July 24- The BJP's gambit of "talking less and listening more" paid off in the Legislative Assembly yesterday with six days of patience and hard work helping the party defeat CM Kumaraswamy's confidence motion.

"It was not easy to be quiet, with Treasury Bench members attacking senior leaders of our party with all kinds of allegations. It required a lot of patience and planning," BJP member Aravind Bellad said.

Ahead of the Trust Vote, the party had given MLAs J.C. Madhuswamy, Jagadish Shettar, Basavaraj Bommai, S. Suresh Kumar and C.T. Ravi the task of dealing with questions by the Speaker and members of the Congress-JD(S) Coalition. "It took us two days to convince Yeddyurappa not to react to tantrums by the Treasury Benches," said a senior BJP leader.

Even BJP leader K.S. Eshwarappa, who is known for his verbal diarrhoea, had to sit quiet in the session for six days with his mouth shut. He told fellow Legislators that it was a punishment to sit silent when the ruling party members traded charges against BJP.

"On several occasions, our MLAs had to sit in the House for five to six hours at a stretch. MLAs who are diabetic or have heart conditions went without food because the Speaker could have taken up the Trust Vote at any point of time," another BJP leader said.

Grand Chamundeshwari Vardhanti

Mysuru, July 24 (MTY&SD)- Today is Mysuru's presiding deity Goddess Chamundeshwari's birthday — Sri Chamundeshwari Vardhanti Mahotsava. Though the main celebrations was atop the Chamundi Hill, the abode of the Goddess, the entire city came together to celebrate the birthday of their favourite Goddess by distributing Prasadam since early in the morning.

Devotees and those who have taken vows were seen distributing Prasadam — mainly Rice Bath and Pulav — at many street corners, especially near small Chamundeshwari Temples.

Atop the Hill Temple, thousands of devotees sought the blessings of the Goddess who was giving darshan from the decked up Sanctum Santorum. The entire Temple premises was embellished and decorated with varieties of flowers and fruits to mark the occasion.

Vardhanti, or the birthday of the Goddess was celebrated today, the saptami day or Krishna paksha at auspicious Revathi Nakshatra, in Ashada, commemorating the day on which the idol of the Goddess was installed and consecrated in the 1820s by Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar. History says that Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar presented a 'Simha-vahana' (lion-shaped vehicle) and jewels.

Morning rituals began at the Temple as early as 5.30 am in the name of erstwhile Maharajas of Mysore with chants of Vedic hymns. Starting with Mahanyasa Poorvaka Rudrabhisheka, Panchamruthabhisheka, Pushparchane, Sahasranaamarchane and other rituals were held while elaborate Pujas continued till 7:45 am. Mahamangalarathi was performed at 8 am.

Later, the Temple doors were opened to the devotees at 8 am. As the Sanctum Sanctorum was closed from early hours for the special rituals, there was heavy rush of devotees as soon as the doors were open. They were seen jostling for space and at the same time have a good darshan. Serpentine queues were formed at the entrance and exit of the Temple and priests and the Police had a tough time in controlling he surging devotees.

Amidst rituals, a Golden Pallakki (palanquin) Utsava was performed which began at 10:30 am where the idol of the Goddess was taken around the temple. The Pallakki took about 45 minutes to circumambulate the temple.

Scion of Mysore royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar and his wife Trishikha Kumari Devi were present for poojas from wee hours and prayed to the Goddess. The 'Utsava Murthy' was decorated by the royal couple with a number of golden jewellery which were specially brought from the Mysore Palace.

The Golden Palanquin carrying the 'Utsava Murthy' went around the temple with chatra-chamara, deevatige and other royal symbols with Palace Band Troupe following and devotees chanting 'Jai Chamundeshwari'.

Free KSRTC bus service was arranged to ferry devotees from Lalitha Mahal Helipad to the Temple. Security had been beefed up to thwart any untoward incidents with heavy Police bandobust.

No place atop Hill for Golden Palanquin

When the Golden Palanquin was brought to the Hill Temple from the Mysore Palace on a truck, there was no place for it to be dismounted from the truck as the Temple was crowded. After initial struggles by the workers and the Police to get the truck near the Temple failed, the truck was led to the new multi-level parking space.

After removing the Palanquin from the truck, workers had to carry it all the way from the parking lot to the Temple premises. Later, the Pallakki Utsav was held.

'Vaale' Manju seeks blessings

Former Karnataka Minister A. Manju, who is called 'Vaale' Manju as he always wears gold studs, visited the Hill Temple to seek the blessings of the Goddess.

Speaking to media, he said that nobody has toppled the Coalition Government and it has collapsed because of the wrong doings by Congress and JD(S) leaders.

"Ultimately, H.D. Revanna's black magic with lemon or barefooted Temple runs did not work. As I had told them earlier itself, 'number 9' is unlucky for Devegowda's family as is evident from 1999 and 2009 and again this time in 2019. At last, the drama that has been going on from the last 10-15 days has come to an end," he said.

Machine chokes Road

The truck, with the heavy machine, had left Dobbespet in Bengaluru last night and hit the Bengaluru-Mysuru Highway. Today morning, the truck turned towards Paschimavahini and headed towards BEML factory. Instead of taking the straight Road from KRS Pump House towards Belawadi, the truck driver took a left by mistake, entering the KRS Road.

BEML sources said the mining machine was being brought from Bengaluru to Mysuru BEML for assembling. Usually, such machine travels on the road in the night to avoid any traffic snarls. But there was some urgency to transport the machine and to make matters worse, the driver, unfamiliar with the road, took the wrong route.

"We had taken Police permission to travel the 6-km stretch within city limits and this is a rare incident where such a huge machine is stuck in city traffic," said a BEML employee on condition of anonymity.

Sources said that once the machine is assembled at BEML, it will be sent to Singrauli Coalfield in Madhya Pradesh where millions of tonnes of coal is extracted every day.

BJP awaits High Command nod

Meanwhile, reports reaching here said that the 15 dissident MLAs, whose resignation is yet to be accepted by the Assembly Speaker, have decided not to return to Bengaluru until there was clarity over the formation of the next Government. Currently they are staying in Mumbai and Pune.

Independent Lok Sabha member and film actor-turned-politician Sumalatha Ambarish, who won from JD(S) stronghold of Mandya with the support of the BJP, congratulated Yeddyurappa over the fall of the Coalition Government in her Facebook post and said, "I congratulate the future Chief Minister Yeddyurappa."

CNC to hold Satyagraha in New Delhi on Nov. 1

Mysuru, July 24- Codava National Council (CNC) has decided to hold a Satyagraha on Nov.1 on Parliament Street in New Delhi to highlight the demand for Codava Quest for autonomy, said CNC President N.U. Nachappa.

Addressing a press meet here yesterday, Nachappa said that volunteers, hailing from different parts of Kodagu, clad in traditional costume, will participate in the Satyagraha.

The CNC demands include implementation of four Constitutional subjects — quest for Geo-Political Autonomy and Self-Determination rights, inclusion of Kodava tribe in the Schedule list under Article 340 and 342 appended to the Constitution, Kodava mother tongue Kodava Thakk should be incorporated in the 8th Schedule of our Constitution and Kodava tribe and their cultural heritage should be included in the intangible cultural heritage list of UNESCO.

"It is a known fact that CNC has been appealing continuously to both State and Central Governments to consider the demands since 29 years. These demands are symbols of Kodava identity." Nachappa said.

CNC President N.U. Nachappa

After Kodagu 'C State' was merged into Karnataka under State Reorganisation Act 1956, the State Government and its agents exploited and looted all the wealth, resources including perennial water source, land, language, cultural heritage, folkloric identity, natural wealth, flora and fauna, rich Kodava martial tribal human resources, well being of natives and all other things possible without any hesitation. "The only way to save our homeland is gaining autonomy and protection by Constitution," he said.

"The Constitution Review Commission of India (CRC) was constituted in 2000 by the then NDA Government and CNC's repeated petitions and series of memorandums and our peaceful movement have been considered by CRC and in 2002, CRC recommended for the creation of Coorg Autonomous Development Council under Article 371 of our Constitution which finds place in the chapter of Centre-State relationship in our Constitution," he said.

"We take this opportunity to remind a fact that the first NDA Government has taken initiative to grant greater autonomy to already existing 10 autonomous regions of North-East and a Constitutional amendment Bill for 6th Schedule and Article 280 is drafted under the aegis of Union Cabinet in February 2019. And the same is expected to be presented before the Parliament in the 17th Lok Sabha Session. We request the NDA Government to help us statutorily ratifying Kodava tribalism by incorporating it in the Schedule list of our Constitution," he added.

Four killed as lorry rams into bikes near Indavalu

Madhukumar Madhusudhan Raghavendra Ahmed Khan

T. Narasipur, July 24 (Kumar& KS)- Four persons were killed when a lorry rammed into the bikes they were riding near Indavalu village in the taluk in the wee hours of today.

The deceased are Madhukumar (20), a resident of Kanchamahalli village in H.D. Kote taluk, Madhusudan (24), a resident of Siddegowdanahundi village, Raghavendra (25), a resident of Kandegala village and Ahmed Khan (38), a native of Odisha.

All the deceased are said to be employees of a hotel at Kuvempunagar in Mysuru.

All the four had been to attend a festival at Hunsur village in the taluk and after having dinner at the house of Chethan and Veerabhadra, the four in two bikes were proceeding towards Mysuru, when a lorry coming from Mysuru side towards T. Narasipur rammed into the bikes at about 2 am today killing Raghavendra, Madhukumar and Ahmed Khan on-the-spot and seriously injuring Madhusudan, who breathed his last at a hospital in Mysuru.

T. Narasipur Circle Inspector Shekar, ASI Azaruddin and staff, who rushed to the spot, conducted spot inspection besides registering a case.

Rhythmic Layavadyotsava-2019

The percussion instruments have come a long way from a crude shell tala to the unbelievable electronic equipments like Rhythm pad that can produce the sound of any number of percussive instruments. The traditional membranophones have survived the tough battle of time and are still an inseparable part of classical and folk music.

Despite the prevalence of rhythm in our life, its grammar some how seems to be eluding away at times ! The fact that many rasikas mistake 'Tani avarthana' to be an interval or the end of a concert confirms this.

Ganabharathi, the music sabha of Mysuru that is known for its innovative programmes, is trying to bridge this gap by arranging 'Layavadyotsava' from 2018. The response to this day-long festival is certainly encouraging . Variety and unity marked this festival.

'Layavadyotsava-2019' was recently held at Veene Seshanna Bhavana. The educative morning sessions had five lecture-demonstrations and the post-lunch had a variety of percussive ensembles that enthralled the audience. Veteran Mridanga player Ganakalabhushana Vid. T.A.S.Mani inaugurated the festival and presented a lecdem on the new 'Solkattus'. He was accompanied by two of his disciples T.N.Ramesh and young Shyamakrishna. He explained in detail how solkattus could be adopted to different talas.

Vid. Sudarshan from Mandya gave a talk on the Muktayas in different taalas. Right from tracing the origin of the word 'Mukthaya', he elaborated on the subject which was very useful for the students and rasikas as well.

Vid. Tumkur B. Ravishankar explained how the 'Korapu's are formed in different taalas.

Vidwans G.S. Ramanujam and A. Radhesh's topic was the origin, development and formation of 'Moharas'. Ramanujam's approach was simple and straight forward.

Vid. H.L. Shivashankaraswamy demonstrated 'Avadhana' in different taalas which require good amount of concentration.

Dr.Umesh from All India Radio led a folk troupe to display a variety of traditional folk instruments. His introduction was very informative and held the audience with interest.

Vid. Narayan and troupe played Tavil and Nadaswara.

A display of Chande and Maddale by Vid. Krishna Chaitanya threw light on Badaguthittu and Tenkuthittu forms of Chande. There were four different ensembles that mesmerised the audience with their lively and rhythmic music.

'Yuva Kalavidaru' directed by Tumkur Yashaswi, an orchestra consisting of Mysuru artistes, directed by Tumkur B. Ravishankar, another ensemble directed by H.L.Shivashankaraswamy and 'Nadalaya Sinchana' led by G.S.Ramanujam and others.

It was heartening to see almost all the percussive artistes flock together to celebrate this Layavadyotsava with enthusiasm.

Nearly 45 artistes participated in this day-long festival and proved their unity.

Effect of HDK-led Government's fall

New UoM Syndicate Members' fates hang in balance !

Mysuru, July 24 (NNN)- The University of Mysore (UoM) has not had a full-fledged Syndicate since the last one-and-a-half years. The H.D. Kumaraswamy-led Congress-JD(S) Coalition Government had made fresh nominations to the Syndicates of State Universities including the UoM.

The Education Department (Universities) Additional Secretary M.A. Ahmed had issued a notification dated July 20, 2019 regarding the new nominations to the Syndicate of University of Mysore that include H.L. Venkatesh, Retired Professor N. Saraswathi, Shabbir Mohammad Mustafa, P. Manjunath, S.T. Ramachandra and Dayshankar Maili.

The nominations which come into force with immediate effect, will remain for a duration of three years or till further orders, whichever is earlier. But the nominations have come at a time when the Coalition Government has fallen and this is a cause of concern for the nominated members as it has not been uncommon to see the tenures of Syndicate Members ending prematurely, whenever a new Government assumes Office.

There are many such instances like the recent one of a Governor's nominee being withdrawn six months after his nomination. The new one who was appointed in his place is still awaiting the original order, said a source in the University.

There are conditions which have to be filled before a Syndicate Member occupies the Office. The University will scrutinise all the supporting documents presented by the Member and only after it is satisfied, will the notification be issued, said the source.

Even though the tenure is for a duration of three years, there is no guarantee that the newly-nominated members will continue as their tenure can end prematurely with the new Government taking over. Moreover, under the Pleasure Doctrine, the Governor or the Government has the power to withdraw the nominations, the source said.

It is not only the Government that is changing but the tenure of the Governor is also expiring next month and once a new Governor comes, and then it will be at his or her pleasure to either retain the Syndicate Members or nominate new ones.

In all, there are 21 Syndicate Members out of which six are Government nominees, two Governor nominees and the remaining ex-officio members including the Vice-Chancellor, Registrar and Registrar (Evaluation).

At present, there is only one Governor nominee in University of Mysore, who is one of the youngest Syndicate Members.

Appointed Syndicate Member of Mysore University

Mysuru, July 24- Dr. S.T. Ramachandra, who recently retired as General Manager from Canara Bank after 34 years of service, has been appointed as Syndicate Member of University of Mysore.

He has vast in-depth banking experience and has served across the country. Apart from publishing books, he has also won awards such as Suvarna Karnataka Hoysala Award for contribution towards literature and social work and Hamsa Jyoti Puraskar from Pu.Ti.Na. Trust, Bengaluru, for contribution to Indian Culture and Literature.

After completing BBM at Maharaja's College and Master's and Doctoral Degree from UoM, Dr. Ramachandra also worked as Lecturer for three years in D. Banumaiah's Commerce College before joining Canara Bank.

US delegates visit STG Public School

Mandya, July 24- A team of 10 US delegates from the Saginaw Valley University, Michigan, USA, visited STG Public School that is nestled in a small village called Chinakurali in Mandya on July 18.

They were here on a day's visit to know more about the school curriculum, pedagogy and the effectiveness of the school in this rural set up. After a brief introductory session and a campus walk, the delegates interacted with the students in classes.

By the end of the day they were amazed at the transformation that is taking place steadily and were overwhelmed to see how the school is empowering the community. Dr. David Cline, the senior-most Professor in the team, had words of praise for the management for having started a magnificent school in a village and applauded the efforts of all the staff who are tirelessly working to make learning happy, safe and significant at STG Public School, according to a press release.

WORD OF THE DAY

Desideratum

Pronunciation: dih-sid-uh-RAH-tum.

Meaning: Something desired as essential.
Origin: We'd like to introduce you to some close cousins of the common word desire. All trace their roots to the Latin sīder-, or sīdus, which has historically been understood to mean "heavenly body," but which may also have an older, non-celestial meaning of "mark, target, goal." Whether etymologically starry or grounded, dēsīderāre, meaning "to long for," was born when Latin de- was prefixed to sīder-. Dēsīderāre begat Anglo-French desirer, which in turn brought forth English desire, desirous, and desirable in the 13th and 14th centuries, with desideration following in the 15th. Then, in the 17th century, English acquired desiderate ("to wish for") and desideratum (desiderata in the plural), all of which can lay claim to direct ancestry from desiderare.
Example: "The year was 1953, and most American children were secretly wishing, praying and writing letters to Santa Claus promising to be nice rather than naughty in return for that ultimate desideratum of gifts: the 'real, live pony.'" — Ken Jennings.

THE ODD WORD

Meldrop

A drop of mucus at the nose, whether produced by cold or otherwise.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

The die has been cast

Meaning: An irrevocable choice has been made.
Origin: This expression has nothing to do with the modern-day process of die-casting of metal — the die here is the singular of dice. Julius Caesar is supposed to have spoken this phrase when crossing the Rubicon. Such stories are difficult to verify at this long remove and, of course, Caesar wouldn't have uttered the expression in English. The earliest English version of the phrase doesn't refer back to Roman history, so we have to take the above story with a pinch of salt. The earliest citation of the phrase that I can find is in Sir Thomas Herbert, A relation of some yeares travaile begunne anno 1626, into Afrique and the greater Asia, 1634: "Aiijb, Is the die cast, must At this one throw all thou hast gaind be lost?"
